37	BE A VOLUNTEER AND REMEMBER TO REPORT YOUR VOLUNTEERING!
38
39	The personal rewards of being a volunteer are GREAT! There is the satisfaction
40	of applying your skills and intellect to help others. Volunteering stimulates
41	growth, both personal and professional. Learning new skills brings fulfillment
42	and experience. As a member of the Volunteer Family, you discover those who 43	share your values and broaden your circle of friends and associates. However,
44	the greatest rewards come from knowing you are providing an important service,
45	responding to real human needs with compassion, dedication and ability.
46
47	NOTICE: Please include on the reverse side of this report a written description
48	of your project accomplishments indexed to the appropriate line number. These
49	descriptions will be forwarded to the WBCCI Community Service Chairman for
50	consideration of selection for inclusion in the Blue Beret. Pictures are also
51	important to illustrate your Unit achievements to the WBCCI population.

This is your form for volunteer work. Fill out and return to
